

Burlington, NC Community Profile

Alamance County's largest city, Burlington can trace its beginnings as a hub of commerce to the 1850s when the North Carolina Railroad expanded into the area. By the turn of the century, the city had emerged as a leader in the textile industry. The Burlington area is rich in history and tradition. Business and residential districts listed in the National Register of Historic Places feature an impressive cross section of 19th and early 20th century architecture. And Alamance Battleground and Museum, site of the first armed resistance to the British Crown in the colonies, is just south of the city. Today's Burlington is a culturally vibrant community where residents can enjoy fine dining, live entertainment at the historic Paramount Theatre, outdoor concert series, professional baseball and a host of outdoor recreational activities.

Population: 50,927

City Offices: 425 South Lexington Avenue, Burlington, NC 27215
(336) 222-5000

Mayor: Ronnie Wall
(336) 222-5022

City Manager: Harold Owen
(336) 222-5022

City Planner: Robert R. Harkrader III, AICP
bharkrader@ci.burlington.nc.us
(336) 222-5110 / Fax: (336)-513-5410

Utilities:	Bob Patterson	Eric A. Davis
	bpatterson@ci.burlington.nc.us Water Resource Director (336) 222-5133 / Fax: (336) 570-6175	edavis@ci.burlington.nc.us Water & Sewer Operations Manager

Property Taxes: Per $100 City Rate: .59 County Rate: .58
City of Burlington Tax Department
(336) 222-5120 / Fax: (336) 570-6136

For more detailed information, visit www.ci.burlington.nc.us and www.ChooseAlamance.com.

Updated May 2010

Alamance County Area Chamber of Commerce

610 S. Lexington Avenue ▲ P.O. Box 450 ▲ Burlington, NC 27216
Phone: 336-228-1338 ▲ Fax: 336-228-1330 ▲ www.choosealamancenc.com